Expression of interest to join a working group

☐ CARPAV- Caravan and Residential Parks and Villages

CARPAV works in conjunction with HAAG's services to represent the rights of residents in parks and villages, to encourage membership and to campaign for improvements to housing conditions for older people in parks and villages.

The group aims to do this by constantly seeking improvements to laws governing parks and villages, lobbying government to obtain change and wherever feasible working co-operatively with industry, other stakeholders and government to achieve these aims.

The group is made up of older residents living in caravan parks, residential parks and residential villages, and is open to all residents from across Victoria who are interested in being involved.

☐ Private Renters Working Group:

The Group is open to people who are currently in private rental, who have had previous experience with private rental, and who may be in temporary or insecure housing such as rooming houses. This group enables people to get together with others who have the experience of being tenants, to exchange the challenges of renting and develop a platform to lobby for older people's rights in private rental.

Actions may include: lobbying local councillors and State and Federal politicians, producing press releases and engaging in public forums. The group will produce its own agenda and focus for collective actions.

☐ Independent Living Units (ILU):

The ILU working group provides a forum for discussion of ideas and issues raised by residents of not-for-profit ILU's. The group tries to create a cooperative, engaging setting to provide the opportunity to work together on exciting projects, such as: examining the ways in which the not-for-profit sector manages the day to day operations of the units, exploring recommendations for improvement and identifying potential legislative reform that will better meet the rights of residents. The aim is to document how the situation could be improved to benefit residents.
