AUSTRALIA HAS A HOUSING CRISIS

Housing for older people has been neglected for too long!

In the most recent census, 14,851 people aged 55 and over were classified as homeless across Australia.

Many older people are in housing poverty and retirement housing options are limited. Public housing is increasingly inaccessible and private rental is mostly un-affordable.

Older people need safe, secure, and affordable housing where they can age-in-place.

Australia needs an Older Persons Housing Strategy for the 21st century. More public housing, more independent housing options, and linked with quality aged care services.
